Journalist and publisher. Helping small to mid-size companies keep what their people know.

I interview people, get the facts right, and turn what they know into clear, accurate writing. I question every step and cut what doesn't work.

SELECTED WORK

- Interviewed C-level executives at B2B Soft and turned what they knew into thought-leadership articles, case studies, and website content.
- Worked with the C-suite and business units in New Jersey, Arizona, and India on communications for Indecomm Global Services, a B2B outsourcing company; wrote more than 100 press releases.
- Published You Are AI's Best Friend—From Olives to Algorithms: A Human Guide on June 30, 2026: conducted interviews, kept the book current as AI changed, and checked every detail through launch, with only freelance help.
- Built a working AI automation that checks older adults' protein intake, using Make and gpt-4o-mini, through fourteen tested prompt versions, with every figure checked against primary sources (BrainStation capstone, 2026).
- Wrote The Memory Book (2014), a researched memoir reviewed by Booklist and Foreword Reviews; negotiated Hungarian-language rights.

HOW I WORK

Prepared, specific interviews. Every fact checked with its source. Plain, accurate writing a team can use. I use Claude and ChatGPT as one line of research, never the last source. The final call is mine.
